

When the power went out, Becky could only hope her mother's life wasn't at risk

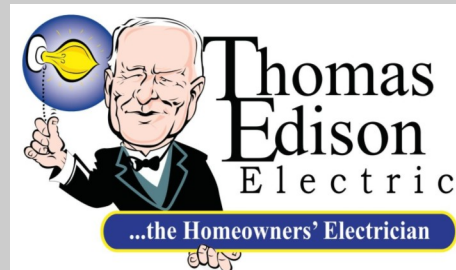

Living half way across the country from her mother was hard enough. Now, Becky had the additional worry that the recent cold snap and the frequent power outages in the area, her mother was at risk for not only losing heat, but losing the ability to rely on the medical equipment her very life depended on.

That's why Becky had Thomas Edison Electric install an Automatic Standby Power Generator at her mother's home. With the Automatic Standby Power Generator, Becky gained peace of mind knowing that the electricity would never go off again at her mother's home. And knowing that her mother's medical equipment, not to mention the heat, would never fail. She suddenly felt much better living so far away.

An Automatic Standby Power Generator Installed and serviced by Thomas Edison Electric:

- Will automatically kick in when the power goes off
- Will automatically shut off when the power is restored
- Will ensure your heating and cooling system will remain on
- Your electronics, medical equipment, refrigerator, communication items, computes and tablets will be operating at 100%
